BAUHAUS

WEIMAR
1919-1923

the Bauhaus, was a German art school operational from 1919 to 1933 that combined crafts and the fine arts, and was famous for the approach to design that it publicized and taught. The Bauhaus was founded by Walter Gropius in Weimar. The German term Bauhaus—literally "building house" "Was understood as meaning "School of Building", but in spite of its name and the fact that its founder was an architect, the Bauhaus did not initially have an architecture department. Nonetheless, it was founded upon the idea of creating a Gesamtkunstwerk ("total" work of art") in which all the arts, including architecture, would eventually be brought together.

Chippendale Style

Chippendale was the only child of John Chippendale (1690–1768), joiner, and his first wife Mary (née Drake) (1693–1729). He received an elementary education at Prince Henry's Grammar School. The Chippendale family had long been in the wood working trades and so he probably received his basic training from his father, though it is believed that he also was trained by Richard Wood in York, before he moved to London.

18世紀の家具デザイナー、チッペンデル家具のカタログをモチーフにしてプリントを起こしたシリーズです。ベースにコットンフラックスを使用しノスタルジックな雰囲気に仕上がりました。
